Homemade Masks

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends we all use homemade cloth face coverings when we need to be out in public, to help slow the spread of COVID-19. Their 3 designs are just right and they include recommendations for how to use them safely and launder them. These masks can also help protect GHM’s global partners and the very vulnerable people they serve.

Please use one of these designs. The sewn design without rubber bands is preferred – rubber bands deteriorate under high heat in a shipping container.

Your gifts of homemade masks will be a blessing for those who receive them. Thank you for helping the hands that heal!

Surgical and N95 masks are critically important for health workers on the frontlines, and will continue to be sent.
